

Nonviolent Family/Village Summerliving 2015 (FaVi 2015) @ Petersholm, Denmark

Duration and place: 8th - 18th of July. At 'Petersholm' –The family farm of Andrea and Arne Mayoh Moreno in Denmark. -Max 45 participants of all ages.

As a kind of foreplay to the International NVC Summerfestival July 2015 in Denmark, we are happy to invite you to participate in a 'living it' NVC event, where we try to 'walk the talk' and create an environment of conscious living together and 'village making' true to our values and intentions. A place with room for kids and elders and people of different backgrounds and cultures, working and doing together and exploring better ways of sharing in this world. This will be a living, exploring and enjoying time in nice natural surroundings.

When people are asked what their dream life and world would be like it becomes very clear that they all share a very similar dream. It is a compassionate world with real equality, full expression and participation of the one to the benefit of all, full awareness of our inter-dependence and our caring for all of the world and everyone in it. -The difficulty arises when people are asked how we move and act towards getting there!

We are exploring these three questions together both in our hearts, our bodies and our thoughts:

- 1) How can the one (you and I) live, participate and take responsibility for a better world and support a community (village) in its everyday activity?
- 2) How can the practices and gatherings of the community (village) allow for and nourish such individual participation and equality? And to the benefit of all?
- 3) How can we represent and extend this growing knowledge to our normal lives and communities where we live now?

So it is about learning and helping each other to be the change and feel the caring of others in the same intentional pursuit.

There is a large body of experiential work and exploration that has been done already in this field done by Marshall Rosenberg, Dominic Barter, Stephen Jenkinson, Eugene Gendlin, Robert Gonzales, Saraswathi, Gayano Shaw and others, work that has been groundbreaking into the visions and practices of a different worldview. So we are not without building blocks and experience to start with at this camp (village). We are at a place and with a core team of dedicated people that have worked with these issues before and that can facilitate our explorations.

Old world issues of 'power over', money, resources, sex, children, education and parenting, couple-ship and relationships may arise at the camp, but the supported work with that will be a major part of the plan. Just as actual joy and sharing between diverse people and ages is of core value. The working together in daily practical activities is also a great way to create the ground for sharing and learning. With room for inter-generational play, music, joy and dance, practical doings and purposeful talks along with sharing and support, we could connect with the real human being within us and explore real human nature and present future.

The duration: the gathering and event is a combination of a more formal part and a less formal 'lead in' time. The official part being 10 days from the 8th of July till the 18th of July, with a 10 day 'lead in' for the early arrivers or eager souls from Sunday the 28th of June. So you are welcome to arrange arrival any time during the 'lead in' or less formal stay and enjoy the atmosphere and dedicated pre-group at Petersholm for a total of up to 21 days. If you are a real enthusiast you can then combine this with the NVC Summer Festival 2015 also in Denmark. See more at www.nvcfestivaleurope.com primarily for community purposes. There may well be outdoor cooking as well as indoor, depending on weather etc.

The organisers: We are a group of enthusiasts and idealists. Andrea Moreno, Arne Mayoh, Gayano Shaw, Jason Stewart, Jake Lawy and Isabelle Wolf. Here is a picture of Arne and Andrea that currently live at Petersholm together with others

The price: Since money is a construct and very artificial measurement of true value in our present world, this event can only be named as priceless in all its ambiguity. Being held to the values of 'low impact (cost)', environmentally conscious, organic and 'pay - it - forward'. Everything offered at the event is perfectly free like air and offered as a gift and a contribution to our common good. There will be space, activities, facilities and organic food available. But if it is to be held in future years for future generations is up to us and the 'pay – it – forward' concept to make that happen. So there is no 'price' and yet money is a meaningful thing to talk about at this event and a key issue in our change for a better world. So naturally the issue will not be ignored during the event. –And there will be ample opportunity to contribute with other resources than money.
